

Data Scientist intern (m/f)

Berlin, Germany

OUR COMPANY

Erento is Europe's largest online rental marketplace. Our core mission is to make renting easier than buying! With over 13 years of online experience, our highest priorities are growth, innovation and learning. We're an ambitious and multicultural team of 40+ people and over 20 nationalities. We pride ourselves on dynamism and modern working culture, and believe in giving real responsibility and opportunities to grow from day one.

We are looking for a Data Scientist intern (m/f) to join our team and to help taking our marketplace platform to the next level!

The internship offers you the opportunity to gain a full-time position at Erento.

WHAT YOU WILL DO

- You will create or update dashboards to bring value to the company through the tracking of the right set of KPIs
- You will learn about and segment our users to optimise their experience
- You will have a good business understanding and you translate the business problems from different departments into quantitative terms
- You will be autonomous and find or create innovative solutions and smart automations
- You will be taking decisions, defending your opinion and demonstrating it with robust numbers
- You will participate to building an advanced search and recommendation engine, among other cool features

YOUR PROFILE

- You are having a Master or similar degree in Machine Learning, Computer Science, Mathematics, Statistics or another quantitative field
- You have experience with supervised, unsupervised and reinforcement learning algorithms on large datasets, including feature selection and model evaluation methods
- You have a good skill level in Python. SQL fluency is a must
- You are a fast learner, curious about technologies and daring to try, to fail and improve
- You are agile, open to changes, ready to pivot for the best

WHAT WE OFFER YOU

- International colleagues and a great work environment
- Challenges and room for professional and personal development
- Responsibilities from day one and flat hierarchies
- Flexible working hours
- Regular company-wide sport events and a rooftop terrace (with BBQ)
- Drinks, fruits and a nice office in the heart of Kreuzberg, Berlin
